In a microwave beam directed at an angle into the sky, a small amount of the power will be randomly scattered as the beam passes through the troposphere. A sensitive receiver beyond the horizon with a high gain antenna focused on that area of the troposphere can pick up the signal.

A dielectric (or dielectric material) is an electrical insulator that can be polarized by an applied electric field. When a dielectric is placed in an electric field, electric charges do not flow through the material as they do in an electrical conductor but only slightly shift from their average equilibrium positions causing dielectric ...

Overall, the dielectric dependence follows directly from the large contribution of electrostatics to binding that exists in the gas phase. However, the electrostatic contribution to the stability of the receptor-anion complex becomes readily screened out in solution by the  $1/\epsilon(r)$  dependence.
